(Reviewed by Ingrid Campbell April 7, 2011.) The annual report contains a report titled, "Revegetation Monitoring at the Star Point Mine, Year Eight 2010". This monitoring was conducted by Dr. Patrick Collins of Mt. Nebo Scientific in 2010. Dr. Collins collected cover, frequency & composition data, and woody species density data on the reclaimed area and did not include the reference area. Reference area data was last collected at year 4 (2006). The reclaimed area consists of Sagebrush, Mountain grassland, and Saltbush communities. The 2010 data was also compared to 2006 and 2008 data collected previously. Total living cover at tall three reclaimed community types decreased in 2006 from 2004 levels and increased in 2010. Woody species density increased substantially between 2004 and 2010. The data was not compared to the revegetation area data, which will act as the final success standard for year 9 and 10. The vegetation appears to be stabilizing and moving toward the success standards. Color photographs were provided in the report and Map A, B and C were located in attachment B.
